Don't Miss This Free Training!

"I'm Not Afraid Anymore!"
with adult educator and author Susan Bernard

Join Tarrant Literacy Coalition and author Susan Bernard as we kick off our team of math and English specialists. "I'm Not Afraid of Math Anymore" (for HSE students), and "I'm Not Afraid of English Anymore" (for ESL students) are written specifically to help your students rock the things that scare them the most. Susan will be presenting both tools, as well as her proven strategies for student success. Come learn how you can use these strategies with YOUR students to help them succeed!

I'm Not Afraid of Math Anymore" has just been updated to reflect the content of the most recently released HiSET® practice test, we were so impressed with it, we’re now using it in our own HSE students! And now, we’re back.

Registration Filling Fast! Reserve Your Seat Before It’s Full: DFW Literacy Symposium

The link between low literacy and poverty is one that cannot be overstated. In our community, adults who struggle with reading and writing, who do not have a high school diploma or equivalent, or who lack sufficient English language skills often live in poverty as they strive to get and keep a job that will provide them and their children with any level of economic security.

Join Tarrant Literacy Coalition, and a host of partners and sponsors, in a unique opportunity to spend a day with an expert in the field as we take a closer look at these two issues and how they impact our work in literacy.

Date: Saturday February 11, 2017 8:00am-4:00pm
Where: First Baptist Church Arlington - Please View Attached Map

Advance registration is required and space is limited.

Attendees at the conference fee is free; on-site lunch is available for $10 per person.
